The Wyoming Affiliate of the National Versatility Ranch Horse Association will be hosting a fall/winter series in Wheatland, Wyoming on October 29 & 30, November 12 & 13, December 10 & 11 and January 7 & 8 and have offered to also include our CoWN classes. The shows will be at the Rafter MB Arena (210 Syble Creek rd). They will have a clinic on Saturdays and a show on Sundays.

These shows would not count for year end points for CoWN but would serve as an excellent way for our members to get more experience. We would especially encourage our novice CoWN members to participate.

The NVRHA's classes are very similar to CoWN's. If you are unfamiliar with the NVRHA they have 6 classes, Reining, Cow Work, Ranch, Ranch Trail, Ranch Riding and Confirmation.

At the fall/winter series they would include our four CoWN Divisions along with their 6 Divisions and they would offer classes for novice youth, youth, novice, intermediate non-pro, limited non-pro, non-pro and open. They may combine the intermediate and limited divisions if there are not many entries. The only difference you might see is they will have a ranch riding class similar to the AQHA Ranch Riding class rather than our Ranch Pleasure class with signs.
